

What Feng Shui Isn't!

There is quite a bit of confusion surrounding the concept of Feng Shui. Some people view it as part of Chinese culture, religion, or superstition. Some think of Feng Shui as a type of positive thinking or a form of spirituality. Still others believe it to be based on principles of interior design or landscaping.

These all couldn't be farther from the truth!

What Feng Shui Really Is!

Feng Shui is an ancient science and art that originated in China several thousand years ago. Through centuries of observations, the Chinese developed a system that computed the patterns and cycles within nature. They then used this system to describe and study the types of energy (Qi) within the universe and how it moved through nature.

What Is the Purpose of Feng Shui?

All physical locations have energies that can have a profound influence on every area of our lives. Inhabitants can experience various problems when blockages of energy occur within or around a building. The main purpose of Feng Shui is to remove any blockages and thus allow Qi the ability to move freely. This promotes good health, prosperity, and harmony in all relationships.

Why Do Feng Shui for Business?

- Use information on how Qi will affect your business to take advantage of good periods and protect against bad periods.
- Maximize the productivity of key personnel and primary workers
- Maximize the Qi entering through the front doors to increase your business activity
- Support the goals of your company

What We Evaluate In Your Business:

- Land formation, structures, buildings, roads, and water works surrounding the property
- Internal and external features such as foundation, shape, symmetry, room divisions, and entrances
- Arrangement of desks and computers in the individual offices

Why Do Feng Shui for Your Home?

- The Cosmic Trinity consists of Heaven Luck, Earth Luck, and Human Luck. Feng Shui is Earth Luck and, like Human Luck, can be easily rearranged to increase the auspiciousness of your home.
- Arrange, enhance, and balance the Feng Shui of your home to support your family in all of its current and future endeavors
- Improve areas of your life such as family harmony, health, wealth, career, and academic achievements

What We Evaluate In Your Home:

- Internal and external Qi flow within and around the property
- Land formation, structures, buildings, roads, and water works surrounding the property
- External and internal features of the house like the foundation, shape, symmetry, room divisions, doors, windows, and entrances
- Location of toilets, stove, kitchen, and the beds in all of the bedrooms
